

AUTONOMY, the international exhibition for sustainable mobility solutions will be held this coming 19 & 20th May 2021, through a 100% digital format.

Paris, March 29th 2021 – Autonomy, the international exhibition for sustainable mobility for professionals, returns on the 19th & 20th of this coming May for its 6th edition, in a 100% digital format and 100% free of charge. After a first successful digital edition last November, Autonomy proved its reactivity and innovation in aid of a second digital conference, aiming to promote the transition to a sustainable mobility to the world's public and private decision-makers. The 2021 edition also touches the greatest number and allows participants to discover the current mobility obstacles, which can be technological, economical, ecological as well as societal, through an optimised digital platform.

While the COVID-19 crisis turns our habits upside down, changes in terms of our mobility are no longer a premise and an actual awareness has taken place. Henceforth, communities, public decision-makers and companies have to work together to build the mobility of tomorrow, propose new alternatives to traditional transportations, and think of solutions for sustainable mobility.

In this context, the 6th edition of the Autonomy fair aims to bring answers structured around 8 main sectorial themes: micromobility and active mobility; mobility within a company; solutions of MaaS, ticketing and payment; shared mobility; urban last mile logistics; e-mobility infrastructure; mobility services and solutions for smart cities; autonomous-vehicle infrastructure.

One of this year's biggest news: the presence of multiple cities and regions as partners. Attending as visitors during our latest editions, the city of Helsinki, Choose Paris Region as well as Baden-Württemberg (a region in Germany) have already confirmed their participation through panel animations. This collaboration proves that great metropolitans would like to involve more startups and small companies in their urban mobility development strategies.

ON THE PROGRAM:

> EXHIBITION

Exhibitors coming from all around the world will present their innovations on digital interactive stands which are accessible from all continents. A virtual platform of Business Meetings for public and private decision-makers enables them to plan and optimise business appointments before and during the event.

> INDUSTRY TALKS

Speakers of all nationalities will host a program of live and interactive video conferences for public and private decision-makers. Accessible to all visitors, these Industry Talks will also integrate the Get Our Cities Moving program, dedicated to cities and public decision-makers.

> PROGRAM DEMONSTRATIONS

Live presentation sessions offer participants the possibility to discover interactively innovative products and services that push forward mobility.

> STARTUP PROGRAM

A Startup District will present offers from the most promising young companies in the sector. In addition, Air Mobility & Autonomous reunites a selection of most innovative actors in the field of air and autonomous mobility.

About Autonomy

More than just an event, Autonomy is a platform B2B/B2G which gathers since 2015 actors working to achieve a mobility that is more sustainable and intelligent. Numerous innovators, startups and big groups believe in Autonomy every year to promote their solutions to transport operators, councillors, cities, private decision-makers (flotte managers, buyers, HR managers...), investors and media. In the midst of the new mobility ecosystem, at the junction of thoughts, initiatives and innovations, Autonomy has an unique positioning on the market which helps private as well as public actors exchange with professionals of different sectors which make and will make the mobility of tomorrow. The 6th edition of the Autonomy fair will be held this coming 19 & 20 may, for the second time 100% in digital format.
